

The diagram shows a basic block, which is a sequence of instructions that is executed as a single unit. It is represented by a horizontal rectangle with a black border. Inside the rectangle is a red oval with a black border, representing the instruction. The instruction is written in a monospaced font and includes a branch hint in square brackets, a mnemonic, and its operands.

[0/1] store i32 0, i32* %retval, align 4